No of Participants:26

Brief Description:

Due to the constraints imposed by the global pandemic, Hazi A. K. Khan College creatively adapted by moving its "Kabi Pronam" celebrations to the online platform Google Meet. This allowed students and faculty from various locations to come together and honour the memory of Rabindranath Tagore.

The event included a series of performances and presentations delivered through the digital medium. Dr. Goutam Kumar Ghosh, the principal paid homage to the portrait of the poet. He delivered an enlightening speech focusing on the contributions of Tagore as a social reformer. Participants recited Tagore's poetry, sang his songs, and discussed his works, each contributing from their respective homes. Faculty members shared insights into Tagore's influence on education and modern thought, while students presented art and essays inspired by his multifaceted works. The celebration was interspersed with recordings of Tagore's songs, performed by both students and faculty members, which added to the ambiance of reverence.
